Gender Identity and Expression
s. 7	Gender Identity and Expression	Oger v. Whatcott (No. 7) , 2019 BCHRT 58	R published and distributed a flyer aimed at stopping C from being elected as an MLA in a Vancouver riding. R is a Christian activist who took issue with C's candidacy as a transgender woman. The panel found R's flyer demonstrated an intention to discriminate and was likely to expose C and other transgender people to hatred and contempt.	I2D: $35,000  Costs: $20,000 for R's improper conduct throughout hearing. (pre and post-judgement interest on I2D and costs until paid in full).
s. 7	Gender Identity and Expression	Li v. Brown , 2018 BCHRT 228	C rented a suite in a house owned by R and his husband. C was not open about his sexual orientation at work and R knew this. C began making what R's husband took to be inappropriate advances towards R. Relationship between R and C became strained as R sought access to suite for showings. C alleged R repeatedly threatened to "out" him at work unless he	I2D: $5,000 complied. C ended tenancy and there was a dispute over damage deposit. R responded by showing C's supervisor a picture of C wearing a dress, effectively "outing" him. HRT found discrimination under s.7 but dismissed complaint under s.10.

Religion; Marital Status; Sexual Orientation; Place of Origin
s. 7	Religion; Marital Status; Sexual Orientation; Place of Origin	Dahlquist-Gray and another v. Hedley (No. 2) , 2012 BCHRT 50	R published posters that were found to have discriminated against Cs on basis of place of origin (USA), religion (Wiccan), marital status and sexual orientation (married gay couple).	I2D: $5,000 to each C  Costs: $1,000 against R to each C for inappropriate communication with the Tribunal despite repeated warnings

Age
s. 8	Age	LeGates and another v. 4373006 Canada Inc. dba North Island Kayak and another , 2023 BCHRT 131	Cs were both in their 70s and had been kayaking for decades. R denied Cs and their grandchildren kayaking service, specifically referring to Cs' age, among other considerations. R offered alternatives, but they were not comparable. Tribunal found discrimination based on age.	I2D: $2,000 for each C
Family Status
s. 8	Family Status	Ellis v. Snow Trails Sales and Service and Meiorin (No. 3) , 2008 BCHRT 152	C not allowed to bring baby stroller into store. Happened numerous times.	I2D: $5,000

s. 8 (also s. 13)	Family Status	Hutchinson v. B.C. (Min. of Health) , 2004 BCHRT 58  Judicial Review – HMTQ v. Hutchinson et al , 2005 BCSC 1421 : BCHRT decision upheld	C with cerebral palsy and her father filed on the grounds that R’s caregiver funding prevented C from hiring father for the role without an assessment of their individual circumstances. The Tribunal found that R could have accommodated Cs by allowing for exceptions to its blanket prohibition against hiring family members.	I2D: Ms. Hutchinson $8,500 (asked for $10,000); Mr. Hutchinson $4,000 (asked for $6,000)  LW: $105,840 for second C to compensate for his lost opportunity to be hired as his daughter’s caregiver  Order that the ministry develop criteria to allow exceptions to the blanket prohibition on the hiring of family members as caretakers  Order that first C be allowed the opportunity to hire her father by application of the criteria for exceptions to her case once made generally applicable to the public
Marital Status
s.8	Marital Status	Jackson v. Summerland Motel and others , 2016 BCHRT 120	C established a prima facie case of discrimination when terminated from her employment because of her perceived marital -like relationship with an individual who the R’s	I2D: $3,500  LW: $499.20 and pre and post judgement interest

Mental Disability
s. 8	Mental Disability	Student (by Parent) v. School District , 2023 BCHRT 237	C has an anxiety disorder and trichotillomania. In grade 8, the R school district placed C in a Language 10 class. C found the class challenging and received lower grades. Her disabilities also worsened that year. Next year C did well in Language 11 with a different teacher and learning plan. The Tribunal found that R’s decision to place C in Language 10 was not discriminatory. However, when R became aware of the impacts school was having on C’s mental health, it had a duty to accommodate her, which it did not fulfill. The R’s lack of inquiry and accommodation had an adverse impact on C’s disabilities and was not reasonable.	I2D: $5,000
s. 8	Mental Disability	Hayes v. DW Johnson Holdings Ltd. and others , 2023 BCHRT 143	C has PTSD which he acquired as an RCMP officer. He was twice ejected and later banned from R	I2D: $10,000

			pub for rolling marijuana cigarettes in the dining area. Tribunal found that C needed to prepare his medical cannabis in real time to meet his disability-related needs, and R's conduct was discriminatory. Tribunal found that the alternative of rolling the cigarettes in the bathroom would perpetuate the stigma around medical cannabis.
S. 8	Mental Disability	Hayes v. Blue Marlin Inn , 2022 BCHRT 61	C has PTSD which he acquired as an RCMP officer. He has a prescription for medical cannabis to treat his PTSD. C attempted to roll a cannabis cigarette at his table at R pub. His server objected to him having cannabis at the premises. R then refused to serve him, called the police, ejected him from the premises, and banned him from service. R's treatment had a clear nexus with C's disabilities and R did not attempt to justify it.	I2D: $2,500
s. 8	Mental Disability	Hayes v. 8899 Holdings Ltd. Dba the Port Spots Pub and others , 2021 BCHRT 165	C was a retired member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) who had post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD). He was prescribed cannabis to manage his symptoms. He was kicked out of the R's pub and refused service after an employee saw him rolling a cannabis cigarette inside. This experience damaged C's reputation and induced stress, anxiety, and	I2D: $500 (individual employee), $1000 (Pub)  Pub is required to share informational documents on cannabis use and human Rights in BC with its employees.

			sleeplessness. Both the Pub and the employee were ordered to compensate C.
s. 8	Mental Disability; Physical Disability	Daughter by Parent v. The Owners, A Strata , 2020 BCHRT 105	14yo C had physical and mental health disabilities related to childhood trauma. She experienced escalating symptoms that a doctor agreed would be aided by owning a dog. R's bylaws did not allow dogs; C asked for an exemption and was denied. Tribunal found that no-dog bylaw violated Code given the significant adverse affect not having the dog would have on C.	C did not seek damages. No-dog bylaw unenforceable against C.
s. 8	Mental Disability	Gichuru v. Purewal and another , 2017 BCHRT 19	R's behaviour was deliberately provoked by C to obtain monetary compensation. Without such provocation, the Complaint would never have taken place.	No I2D: as "C's conduct should not be rewarded"  Costs: $12,000 for R knowingly giving false evidence during hearing including that C had threatened to set R's residence on fire

			Mainland. It paid a regulatory “per-trip fee” to the BC government that it argued was paid instead of providing wheelchair accessible options. Consequently, as a wheelchair user, C could not use Uber’s services. Tribunal found that Uber’s discriminatory conduct could not be justified by its goal of saving costs or by its payment of the per-trip fee.	Order that Uber provide wheelchair accessible services within one year.
s. 8	Physical Disability	Bond and Bond v. The Owners, Strata Plan NW 2671 , 2024 BCHRT 21	Because of their lung diseases, Cs requested approval from their strata to install a heat pump and ventilation system in their townhouse. R denied the request on three occasions (for reasons that R did not have the authority to approve and the installation would interfere with the enjoyment of adjacent lots and common property). Tribunal found that excessive heat caused by the lack of air conditioning exacerbated C’s lung condition, and R’s refusal to allow them to install a heat pump was not justified.	I2D: $13,000  Order that R approve the request for installation within one month of receiving a plan from Cs
s. 8	Physical Disability	Kovacs v City of Maple Ridge (No 2) , 2023 BCHRT 158	C is blind. The City reconstructed three intersections that C had used for decades. s. 8	Physical Disability	MacLean v. Gerry Robert Enterprises dba Black Card Books , 2022 BCHRT 89	C, who was DeafBlind, attended a free workshop organized by R. I2D: $2,500  Order that R provide C with the opportunity to meaningfully participate in the workshop with the interpretation services of his choice.
s. 8	Physical Disability	Cameron v. Burrardview Housing Co-Operative (No. 3) , 2022 BCHRT 74	C with respiratory conditions complained of mold in her unit. Both before and while he was on leave, the employer found errors in C's work. Without further investigation, the manager fired C due to alleged past and current performance concerns, five days after C's return to work. The Tribunal found that the manager was always skeptical about C's injury, and C's disability was a factor in the decision to terminate him. R believed that C lied about the injury happening at work, and he threatened to discontinue his support for C's permanent residence application if C did not withdraw her WorkSafe claim. While C was away because of the injury, R communicated to WorkSafe that C could not return to her job. The Tribunal found that R's intimidating behaviour towards C following her injury constituted harassment, and that R effectively ended C's employment because of her disability. The Tribunal also found that R exploited C's vulnerability as a new immigrant with no knowledge of her legal rights by failing to pay her for overtime, vacation, and stat holidays throughout her employment. When C's permit expired, she was effectively terminated. Consequently, C also lost the ability to work in Canada and her MSP coverage. The Tribunal found that C's disability was the only reason for Rs' conduct, and Rs failed to establish the justification that C's continuous employment (i.e., not taking time off) was a bona fide occupational requirement. R also argued that C could not proceed with her complaint because she had signed a release that released them from a human rights complaint. The Tribunal did not determine whether C's knee pain was a disability but determined that R perceived C to	I2D: $10,000 LW: $12,250
